

consideration

shall we initiate once more - me and one of many many is[1] whose shades of grey and colour differentiate the way a mother tells her twins apart the way that two can never be the same except computer's bytes and bits?
shall we initiate again with the city purring like a feline that's half sate
- shall we place ourselves upon its plate and risk again that which we have of late that is to be a morsel to an appetite that is to jeopardise our fragile state? and when i say initiate i mean go out and face the world and taking me and one of many is[1]
- interact -
aspects of me and it
- and though the city is the smaller part it rubs against the me and i like a cow scratching on a wooden fence
- depending on the i that ventures forth self-assurance buoys or sinks.

[1] is - plural of i or I - pronounced eyes.